FARMERS HOLD KEY TO DAIRY SITUATION

Antioch Plant to Open When Producers Say the Word.

The signing a contract last Saturday by Antioch men and Broxham Dairy Co. officials, whereby local parties were granted a forty-day option for the purchase of the Antioch milk plant, and the assurance of a market for all milk produced in this vicinity places the dairy situation in the hands of local producers who are interested in having Antioch as a convenient point of delivery.

The option for the purchase of the local plant at the price of $10,000 was secured Saturday at a conference between President Broxham, of the Broxham Dairy Co. and R. C. Abt, Nel Shultis and W. H. Williams of the Antioch Business Club. The price agreed upon is considered very reasonable by those versed in present day building costs, it being claimed that the plant here could not be built today for a cost less than $30,000 or $40,000. The price of $10,000 includes $8,000 or $9,000 in dairy machinery and equipment now in the building. The option will expire Feb. 17, 1927. According to the signed agreement, convenient terms of payment are provided for.

The proposition was explained to a number of producers at a meeting held at Danish Hall Wednesday evening, when Mr. H. H. Joannes, Chicago jobber and dealer, was present and expressed his desire to see the re-opening of the local plant and offering to take over the place on a five or ten year lease as soon as possible. Mr. Joannes and associates are taking over the entire interests of the Mid-West Dairy Co., and will be incorporated. So interested is Mr. Joannes that he will take over a good block of stock in the plant here if local dairymen decide upon purchasing it.

Among other things at the meeting, it was brought out that some of the nearby plants were not certain of continuous operation beyond a period of a few months, as some of them are now being operated at a loss, and also that Chicago health authorities were soon to put a stop to the so called "bootleg" milk supply. It is also known that there is an abundant milk supply in this vicinity, sufficient to make the local plant a paying proposition, and all that is needed now is concerted action on the part of the producers.

Dairy Meeting Wednesday.
A second meeting of interested dairymen is called for next Wednesday evening, Jan. 19, at the Danish Hall, at which time a checkup will be made of the available milk supply and plans for the formation of a stock company to purchase the plant here will be discussed. Farmers are urged to attend. Meeting will be called to order at 7:30 o'clock.

A goodly number of the young people of the church enjoyed the fellowship last Thursday evening at an old fashioned skating party. After all had skated, hot cocoa and "hot dogs" were passed around and rapidly disappeared within the hungry skaters.

The Sunday school board which met Monday are planning to give a series of travel lectures in the very near future. The community will welcome this opportunity to travel abroad without the worry of encumbrance thereto. China, Japan, India, Africa and many cities in America will be visited. Watch for detailed information.

FIREMEN CALLED TO HICKORY CORNERS

Antioch volunteer firemen were called yesterday at two o'clock to the home of John Irving at Hickory Corners, where a chimney was burning out. For awhile, it is said, the dwelling seemed doomed to destruction by flames, but the fire was safely out when the firemen arrived.

MRS. KEULMAN ENTERTAINS

Chicago Paper Lauds Antioch

"Most Favored Town in Illinois," Writes Fred D. Pasley in Chicago Herald and Examiner.

Characterizing Antioch as the most favored town in Illinois, Fred D. Pasley, special writer for the Chicago Herald and Examiner, told the story of Antioch and the Illinois lake region in Tuesday's edition of that paper. Mr. Pasley is on "a voyage of discovery," he states, and through a series of articles now running in the Herald and Examiner, he is telling his readers of the great opportunities around about Chicago, which he believes is destined to become the world's greatest city. Mr. Pasley is considered an authority on the things about which he writes and his opinion may be regarded as expert. His story of Antioch and the lake region, as printed in the Chicago Herald and Examiner, appears elsewhere in this edition of the News.

MILLBURN MUTUAL IS 72 YEAR OLD COMPANY

John A. Thain Is Re-elected President for Fourth Year—J. S. Denman Enters 11th Year as Sec.

Company Carries $7,000,000 Insurance

For the fourth consecutive year John A. Thain, Millburn man, was re-elected president of the Millburn Mutual Insurance Company Saturday at the annual meeting of the company members at Millburn Masonic hall. J. S. Denman, also of Millburn, was re-elected Secretary and Treasurer and enters his eleventh year of service in that capacity.

The three directors of the company were also re-elected—John Wirtz, southern director, Mundelein, C. J. Wright, central Grayslake, and I. W. Pullen, northern, Antioch. All officers and directors have served the company well and efficiently during their tenure of office.

Established in 1855.

Over $7,000,000 insurance is in force and is held by nearly two thousand policy holders in this old company, established March 12, 1855, nearly three-quarters of a century ago. Operating as a non-profit organization selling insurance at cost, the company has shown a steady increase in business and prestige until today it enjoys the distinction of being one of the best established mutual companies in the middle west. "The business of the company is in a thriving condition," Secretary J. S. Denman said yesterday to a representative of the Antioch News. "All claims for losses by policyholders have always been very satisfactorily adjusted. In fact, during the 72 years of its existence, no lawsuit ever has marred the company's record," concluded the speaker, expressing the belief that the company had a very bright outlook for the future in serving their satisfied policyholders.

FIRST YEAR FINDS BANK IN THRIVING CONDITION

First National Shows Profit First Year of Existence.

STOCKHOLDERS MEET TUESDAY

Contrary to the usual experience of new banking institutions of taking a loss the first year, due to organization and other expenses incurred before having an opportunity of earning money, the new First National Bank of Antioch, despite these conditions and coupled with the many inconveniences by lack of proper and adequate space for their temporary quarters, earned a profit the first year. Stockholders assembled at the annual meeting Tuesday afternoon were surprised with the announcement that the bank had not only paid its way but had created a profit and surplus at the close of the first year's business.

This announcement was very gratifying to the stockholders and is splendid proof of the earnest and conscientious work of the officers and directors during the first year. Such a favorable report also speaks a successful future for this progressive banking institution.

All bank officers were re-elected for the ensuing year:

Chas. K. Anderson, Pres., Robert C. Abt, Vice Pres., William A. Rosling, Vice Pres., and S. Boyer Nelson, Cashier.

The following directors were also re-elected:

Chas. K. Anderson, Robert C. Abt, William A. Rosling, Dr. H. C. Hardt, G. Carroll Gridley, W. R. Williams, and George S. Wedge.

Old Wilmot Mill Is Industrial Landmark

One of Kenosha County's Industries Started in 1844.

(Written for the Antioch News)
The important part the milling industry had in the history of the western part of Kenosha county, and the many interesting incidents hinging around the old mill at Wilmot, are related in the following sketch, written for the Antioch News.

The land on which the first mill was built was part of a government grant of school lands sold to Lewis Hatch in 1839. Mr. Hatch was one of the pioneer settlers and largest land holders of this section, living to be over ninety years of age. In 1840 Mr. Hatch sold the site of the town of Wilmot to Asabel W. Benham.

Mr. Benham owned over six hundred acres in the south west part of Salem Township and generously gave from his holding, land for the Congregational Church, the Wilmot Cemetery site and a block for a village park, later utilized by the Wilmot schools. In 1841 Mr. Benham perceived that a mill on the banks of the Fox River would be an excellent business proposition. At this time the village had not been established and it was not until 1843 that J. W. Wilbur gave the village of Wilmot its name, suggesting, as a joke, that the new town be named after the Wilmot Provision. Mr. Benham built the first frame house on Mill street in 1844 and it was christened "Glend." He also built the first brick house in 1847 and opened up the first store in the town that same year.

Was a Pioneer Country.

At this time there were no highways constructed, or bridges built over the Fox River. In order to cross the stream the pioneers had to ford it and later a ferry was run. As there was no dam across the river Mr. Benham used a small ditch, now extinct, that drained all the marsh land west of Wilmot with (Continued on page 7)

ANTIOCH, ILL., GOAL FOR WISE MEN OF TODAY

Destiny's Star Glows Brightly Over State's Famous Spa; Building Boom Swells City.

(From the Chicago Herald and Examiner, Jan. 11, 1927.)

By Fred D. Pasley.

ANTIOCH, ILL., Jan. 10—You know this town. Everybody knows it. It is motordom's mecca in the good old Summer time. It is to metropolitan Chicago what the Riviera is to France. It is Chicago's front yard—its playground.

"Antioch," said Robert C. Abt, who knows what he is talking about, "is on the threshold of a tremendous development."

And after he had cited statistics, conducted me around the city and showed me the building projects and the expansion in all lines of business, I understood what he meant.

Mr. Abt is president of the Antioch Business Club, a thoroughly representative and progressive organization. He has participated in every movement looking toward the town's civic and commercial advancement and is familiar with every phase of its life.

Great Rise Assured.

It is significant that this beauty spot—this capital of the lakes country, situated fifty-one miles northwest of Chicago—should be named for that town which the three wise men stopped en route to the manger at Bethlehem.

Wise, indeed, were the men who founded Antioch, Ill. The star they followed was a star of destiny. This little city's future is a foregone conclusion. It will grow as Chicago grows. I should say it is the most favored town in Illinois.

A place to put your money in. A gold nugget investment. Buy a lot in Antioch and you shoot double. You not only have property in the greatest Summer—as well as Winter—resort in America, but you have an asset that will constantly increase in value.

"In Summer," as Mr. Abt puts it, "we're a spa without a peer and in Winter a bit of Switzerland, so far as ice and snow sports are concerned."

Hub of Lake Country.

Antioch advertises itself as the hub of the lake region of northern Illinois. Just what that means is this:

To the west is the chain of lakes comprising Channel, Catherine, Marie, Bluff, Pettie, Grass, Fox and Pistakee through which runs the Fox River, and along which one may motor-boat from the Wisconsin line for fifty miles.

To the northwest and the south are many other beautiful lakes, chief among them being Loon Lake. All these lakes are spring fed and abound in fish. One of the state hatcheries is but a few miles from (Continued on page 8)

MILLBURN MAN IS BANDIT VICTIM

Supervisor Edward Martin Robbed and Locked in Basement of Store.

Pushing two guns into his back and demanding that he hold up his hands Supervisor Edward Martin, of Newport township, Saturday evening was held up in his store at Millburn where bandits carried away $50 in cash and tobacco.

Before leaving they pushed him into the basement and closed the trap door thinking that they had him locked in.

Three men staged the holdup, two entering the store and a third waited in an auto outside. Martin was alone at the time of the robbery, about 6:30 p. m.

Shortly after the holdup Sheriff Doolittle and other officials were combing the north shore for trace of the bandits, who were said to be Mexicans. They have not been apprehended.

KNOW ILLINOIS!

Illinois produces more manufactured goods annually than does all of Canada.

Illinois now has seven times as many telephones in service as in 1900.

During the first semester of the school year 1926-27 Illinois led the nation in enrollment in senior and junior units of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps. There were 10,635 enrolled.

Illinois mines more coal than does all of Asia with its hundreds of millions of population.

Illinois' investment in electric light and power facilities is four-fifths of the investment in the entire United States 25 years ago.

Illinois, rich in lore of the proud Red Man, now has only 194 Indians. Illinois coal is now being shipped to England, due to fuel shortage.

DON'T MISS

an opportunity to get some "BARGAINS IN DYED HED SOWS AND GILTS" on

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 1st, 1927

This is sure to be the most sensational live stock sale ever held in the country, because although sows will be sold in the usual way to the highest bidder, no bid over $250.00 will be accepted. As the offering will be very large, the plan will guarantee every breeder an opportunity to buy a sow or gilt bred to the greatest grand champion breeding boar in the country today, at a reasonable price.

Last year breeders bid five, six, seven and even as high as eight hundred and thirty dollars on a single offering, and the offering this year will be far better than that of last year.

I have a large herd—more than I can carry through farrowing, and this year I am ambitious for volume of sales rather than high prices. Catalogs on request, with full particulars.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"SACRAMENT" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, January 9.

The Golden Text was from John 4:34 "Jesus saith unto them, My meat is to do the will of him that sent me, and to finish his work."

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "And it came to pass, as he was alone praying, his disciples were with him: And he said to them all, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me. For whosoever will save his life shall lose it: but whosoever will lose his life for my sake, the same shall save it" (Luke 9:18, 23, 24).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "If all who ever partook of the sacrament had really commemorated the sufferings of Jesus and drunk of his cup, they would have revolutionized the world. If all who seek his commemoration through material symbols will take up the cross, heal the sick, cast out evils, and preach Christ, or Truth, to the poor,—the receptive thought,—they will bring in the millennium" (p. 34).

Quickest Market Service by Air

THE farmer today has a better market teler service than the Wall Street broker. James E. Poole, for more than twenty years recognized as the best-informed live-stock market reporter in Chicago, steps to the microphone every morning at 9:30 and via WLS, the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation Station, Chicago, gives the farmer the most complete live-stock market report broadcast from any radio station in the country. At 12:20 he is on the air again with ten minutes full of terse advice to farmers on market conditions, and whether to sell quick or hold cattle, hogs and sheep for better prices. This lightning market report service, which gives the farmer the current price on his produce at the moment he wishes to make his deal, is reorganizing farm marketing and making the farmer a better business man, according to Samuel R. Guard, Director of the Foundation.

Union Free High School Notes.

The high school basketball team seemed to store up a supply of baskets for one game, and they emptied twenty-eight of them on the Union Grove High school, winning by the top-sided score of 56-4. Union Grove did not score a single field goal. The first team men of Wilmot, playing only the first quarter, set a dizzy pace by scoring thirty points in rapid succession. They then let the second string men complete the massacre. Shubert Frank caged 8 baskets in the first quarter to lead the scoring, and Chet Runyard, the elongated center, dropped in five from the floor. The diminutive Emerson Schmalfeldt created a sensation by playing a fast game, and caging two baskets.

The Union Grove coach was without the services of three of his best men, and promises to have a different team on the evening of Feb. 4th.

Folks who saw the Kenosha Vocational school defeat the high school on Saturday would not have believed that Wilmot had the same team which ran rough shod over Union Grove the previous evening. The Vocationals won by one-minute spurt 16-14. The local boys were peopless, and played listless ball. Captain McDougall was clearly off form, and neither Runyard nor Richter, who replaced him, played any better. Shubert Frank, altho he was closely guarded scored 12 of his team's points. Leo Letting played a great defensive game, holding the center of the vocationals, the scoring ace, to a single point.

Methodist Notes

The Methodist folks are looking forward to Sunday, January 16, with great interest as at that time will be displayed the Joash Chest although Sunday, January 30, is the day on which the titles will be received, in accordance with the old custom established by King Joash who reigned over Judah for over thirty years. The record of his reign is of special interest as a thirty year reign is of length unknown ever in this day. The special title received on that day will be used as it was when first taken, in the repairing of the Temple.

The Sunday evening service was well attended last week. All who came entered into the special musical program featuring the echo singing. This came as a most agreeable surprise resulting in a request for another such program. The pastor, Rev. Krahl has promised to provide more programs for Sunday evening which will be enjoyable as

Our National Efficiency

PRESENT cost levels are much higher than those of ten years ago, so that each additional telephone installed now increases the average investment per telephone. To maintain the service the company's revenues must keep pace with this condition.

VISITORS to the United States from other countries marvel at the efficiency of our great industrial organizations, of the skill with which great crowds are handled on occasions of public interest, and a score of other things in which the ability of American organizers to handle things in great volume is shown.

The principal tool or instrument behind these seeming marvels is usually found to be the telephone. Take telephone service out of our great factories, our great stores, our great expositions and congresses, and confusion will be likely to replace the smoothness and efficiency at which the visitors marvel.

Studies extending over half a century have brought the telephone service in America to its present efficiency. While this is most strikingly shown in connection with big affairs and great emergencies, it is likewise to be found in the ordinary service, which is at the call of any and every telephone subscriber.

Letter From Florida

Cocoa, Fla.

December 28, 1926

Antioch News,

To My Friends in Antioch:

Just a few lines to let my friends in Antioch know how I spent Christmas day. I got up early in the morning, it being a beautiful day. The thermometer stood 85 degrees all day. The first thing I did in the morning was to take a walk out in an orange grove, which borders our home in Carlton Terrace, which is a suburb of Cocoa, and picked about a peck of oranges, of my choice. Then Willard and myself took a trip to Merrill Island to get a fowl for our dinner, after which we went to the Banana river and fished for two hours. It being Christmas I did not run my wagon that day.

I have a wonderful location for it here on the Dixie Highway, in the heart of Cocoa, on a vacant lot, which is one mass of roses and poinsettias. I can reach out at arms length any time and pick either.

Last Wednesday we made a trip to Melbourne and spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Williams, and I assure you, that they are royal entertainers. We had luncheon together and took a trip to the India Atlantic beach there. They also took us around Melbourne and showed us many places of interest.

As to our trip down here, it sure was very unpleasant. It rained every day with the exception of one, and it sure can rain down in this country, it comes down in buckets full, not drops. It took time and one half days to make the trip.

My address is Cocoa, Carrelton Terrace, Florida and would be glad to hear from any of our friends at home.

Respectfully yours,
W. J. Chinn and family.

EXIDE COVERS LARGE AREA

Word has been received by Arthur Maples, the local Exide Dealer, that the five airplanes which are carrying the army fliers on their tour of goodwill to South America are equipped with Exide batteries. As in the case of the round-the-world army fliers these batteries were selected because of the world-wide battery service maintained by the manufacturers. This service enables the fliers to get battery attention from authorized Exide service stations even though they may be thousands of miles from home. Exide service stations operated by Exide distributors are located throughout Central and South America and the West Indies. South American motorists have already shown their goodwill toward automotive products of this country in the manner in which they have patronized Exide service.

"Between Ourselves" is the title of one of her regular features. It is a chatty, cheerful session in which she deals with all the wide variety of problems that might confront the housewife.

In addition to her radio work Mrs. Dickey is in charge of the Home Division of the Agricultural Foundation. In this capacity she answers hundreds of letters each week from farm wives in all sections of the United States.

Mrs. Dickey receives a wide variety of neighborly gifts in every mail. Farm wives send her samples of freshly made jams, preserves, pickles, fancy bread, cake, and anything else that can be connected in or on the kitchen range.

Quaint forms of philanthropy are evident in almost every part of China. Locks that are stiff and hard to turn should be oiled with a feather dipped in good machine oil. Insert the feather through the keyhole and twist from side to side. This oils the parts and loosens dirt.

The LAMPS You Use Should "Fit" Your Lighting Circuit

THE question of "fit" in lamps is important. To insure 100% lighting value for your money, the lamp must be designed for the same voltage as the lighting circuit in your home.

For example, a lamp only half strong enough for your circuit, will burn out in forty minutes. A lamp twice as strong as your circuit requires might last many years but would give you only a fourth of the light you should have.

Special Note:

The recent reduction in electric rates and the use of efficient lamps permit you to enjoy better lighting without increasing your lighting budget.

The "Lamp Exchange Service" of this Company is maintained to furnish tested high-efficiency lamps, so that its customers may obtain the full benefit of your electric service.

A lamp display in our store shows conveniently the many sizes, shapes and colors available for your use. Call in and see it.

its source in the hills known as the Knobs and emptying into the river, as his source of power. For two years this ditch furnished sufficient power for Mr. Benham's mill, a frame structure used both as a flour and a feed mill. In 1846 the business had increased to such an extent that he felt justified in securing permission to construct the present dam over the river at the site of his mill.

In this first mill Mr. Benham used two wheels to generate power from the dam. The dam had a fall of four to four and a half feet. The wheels were concave, similar to a windmill and successfully furnished power for the grinding of flour, buckwheat and rye through the stone crushers then in use.

Four Lost Lives in Work.

During Mr. Benham's ownership of the property four men lost their lives at the mill. Three were drowned in the mill race while it was under construction. They were crossing it in a boat when the boat overturned throwing them into the deep waters of the mill pond. Lasby and Cherry were names of two of the men, but the third remains unidentified.

On March 20, 1860 S. W. Whaples, master mechanic of the mill, was found drowned in the mill wheel base. He had been assisting Ed. Carpenter repair the mill wheel and was left to work alone. On Mr. Carpenter's return he found Mr. Whaples absent and his hat floating in the water. A search was immediately made and the body was brought to the surface by Reynolds Arnold by means of a fork with bent tines. Mr. Whaples is thought to have been caught in the mill wheel accidentally, as they were repairing it while in operation.

Unfortunately, business reverses came to Mr. Benham and January 13, 1864 John W. Carey, no relation of Walter Carey, secured possession of the milling properties by the foreclosure of an $8,000 mortgage. Mr. Carey retained ownership of the property but a short time as he sold it to John W. Voak on August 9th, Kenosha, Wauconda and Waukegan.

Another Mill Started.

Mr. Benham sold land a block south of his mill to John C. Barto and Wm. Haythorn who erected a mill on a second ditch. The only trace of this ditch at present is a spring. At first the frame building was used as a flour and feed mill, power being generated from the ditch by means of an over shot wheel. Julius Arnold purchased the mill and used it for a wool carding mill. At the present time a creamery stands on the original site of this mill.

Asabel W. Benham had been the owner of the Wilmot mill for twenty years and the Voak families held the property for the next thirty-six. John W. Voak successfully carried on the flour and feed business that had been established by his predecessor. After two years Mr. Voak changed from the stone system used by Benham to rollers and increased his grinding capacity to 1500 bushels a day.

Fire Destroyed Mill in 1879.

On March 14, 1879 the mill caught fire from a defective chimney and burned to the ground. Disaster again attended the Whaples family for Emory, a son of S. W. Whaples, drowned in the wheel house, was burned to death in an unsuccessful attempt to rescue the safe and books. He was assisting Wallace and Carson Arnold place a rope around the safe to drag it out of the building when a grain bin above gave way, and though the force of the rushing grain pushed the Arnolds to safety, Mr. Whaples was caught and the falling building prevented his rescue.

John Voak rebuilt at once, erecting a better and larger mill. The new building was three stories high and was increased from a three to a five-run mill, with a capacity of a hundred barrels a day. Three more wheels were added making a total of five for the new building.

Brought Business To Village.

On March 2, 1893 Charles W. and Edward V. sons of John Voak purchased the business from their father. There was no other mill within a radius of twenty-five miles and the Wilmot mill became the center of the village business interests, for it brought trade from all the countryside adjoining and as distant as the localities next to Kenosha, Wauconda and Waukegan.

The local hotels, owned by the Hegeman family, was largely patronized by farmers who remained over night when they came to exchange their wheat for the Voak flour and have their grain ground. Voaks had an excellent reputation for the quality of their work and for fair dealing and did an enormous milling business.

Fire, thought to have started from an over heated shaft, was discovered in the mill cupola on the afternoon of April 20, 1900. With the inadequate fire protection of a country village of that time no attempt was made to save the mill. People summoned by telephone, then generally in use, worked to save adjoining buildings, but in spite of their efforts the blacksmith shop of Michael Schlax, the Wagon Shop of Wm. Smith and Son and the Episcopal church were destroyed. Happily, there was no loss of life. When the fire was discovered Charles Voak locked the mill doors and refused entrance to all who offered to remove the stock or fixtures.

Sold To Walter Carey.

With the destruction of their property interests in Wilmot the Voak families decided to sell and move to other states. The Charles Voak family moved to Cleveland, Tennessee and later to Yakima, Washington where Mr. Voak died two years ago. Edward V. Voak and family are living in Worthington, Minnesota. As members of both families had been leaders in the social, as well as the business life of the community, and active members of the M. E. church it was with deep regret that their old neighbors and business associates saw them leave town.

Walter Carey, who died only a few weeks ago became the new owner. He had moved into the state from Illinois in 1898 as a retired farmer and with store interests at Wilmot and Trevor. Mr. Carey took over the property on July 9, 1900 and at once superintended the construction of another mill building. It was two stories high with a basement 60x100 and the equipment consisted of a burr mill for feed and a stone process for grinding buckwheat, rye and graham flour. At first it was operated by water power and later by electricity. Special attention was paid to merchant milling and custom grinding, the country trade covering a radius of twelve to fifteen miles. At one time a big trade in buckwheat flour under the name of the Fox River Brand was enjoyed which had an excellent reputation with the trade.

Mr. Carey's mill was the headquarters in this section for the Gold Medal and Pillsbury flours which were received in carload lots from Minneapolis, as well as bran, middlings and other coarse feed. The owner delivered to his customers first by wagon and later by auto truck as Mr. Carey did both a wholesale and retail business. In conjunction with the feed mill, Mr. Carey had a big business in coal.

For several years a saw mill was run in connection with the feed mill and operated entirely by water power. During this time the farmers were clearing their woods and found it convenient to have lumber sawed at home.

Enlarged Its Usefulness.

In the fall and winter of 1914 Mr. Carey saw a chance to utilize the power of the dam for electricity, with the idea at first of furnishing current just for his own home and mill. The demand for service became so great from the inhabitants of Wilmot and all the surrounding towns and countryside, that he formed a company known as the Carey Electric and Milling Company, organized for the purpose of selling and distributing electric energy throughout the community. The original mill was remodeled, the saw mill removed and an electric generator and switchboard installed. The company operated its electric plant with water and a gas engine for about four years, when it was found necessary to either install another engine or purchase energy to supply the ever lasting demand for electricity. A contract for power service was entered into between the Carey Electric and Milling Co., and the Wisconsin Gas Company.

The demand for electricity so increased in the community that the company served approximately eighteen rural communities and summer resorts as well as many farmers, and operated approximately 125 miles of transmission line in Kenosha and Walworth Counties in Wisconsin and in McHenry and Lake Counties in Illinois.

First in Rural Field.

This company was one of the first to supply the farmers with electrical energy giving them the benefit of labor saving machinery run by electricity, especially during the war period when the farmers were in dire need of assistance. As the village of Wilmot is situated in the Lake region the number of summer customers is increasing rapidly for they find their cottages far more comfortable with electric lights and appliances.

The last addition Mr. Carey built to his electrical properties was a fire proof substance beside the original mill. He installed up to date switch boards, regulators, a static condenser and other necessary equipment.

Sold Again in 1926.

On June 2, 1926 Walter Carey announced the sale of his water power and flouring mill at Wilmot and all the stock of his public utility properties, that is the Carey Electric Light and Milling Co., of Illinois and the Carey Electric Light and Power Co., in Wisconsin to George H. Knutson, Financial Engineer, Harris Trust Building, Chicago.

Mr. Carey, the retiring owner of the properties, came into the state in 1893 and since then took a very active interest in the development of the community and in local education, being largely instrumental in the establishment of the Union Free High School at Wilmot, assisted materially in the formation of the West Kenosha County Fair Association and had always been a willing contributor to all public welfare and religious movements, especially in support of the Catholic Church, of which he was a member.

Mr. Carey had his first experience in line building when he constructed a telephone line from his farm on English Prairie in 1895 to his store at Wilmot. In partnership with John Nett at the time, they continued the line to the Carey and Montgomery store at Trevor. It was extended to South Bristol and later the New Era Telephone Company bought the property.

New Owner Plans Extensions.

George Knutson the new owner operated the properties substantially the same as in the past, that is with good service to the customer being the first consideration. However, in the conduct of the mill business he made several changes, for it was operated as a grist mill only. Mr. Knutson did not handle coal, flour, or feed as had been done in the past. Mr. Knutson sold the Electrical properties to the Public Service Co. of Illinois. This company retained ownership of all the Carey Electric property in Illinois and sold the Wisconsin territory to the Southern Wisconsin. The latter company re-sold part of the Wisconsin territory to the Wisconsin Gas and Electrical Company and their division of territory included Wilmot and the mill site and buildings. This company has leased the mill to be operated as a grist mill and plans extensive repairs to the dam and wheel house another year.

AWARDS MEDAL

BRITTON I. BUDD

As a means of stimulating interest in safety work and First Aid instruction, Britton I. Budd, president of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, has announced the establishment of the Britton I. Budd medal for the saving of human life.

This medal, designed by a New York sculptor and executed in silver, will be awarded to any employee of the Public Service Company, or of the several other companies with which Mr. Budd is associated, who succeeds in saving anyone's life.

A committee has been appointed to investigate evidence in all cases of life saving as above specified, and this committee's decision in all cases will be final. Awarding of the medal will be made retroactive, to include all cases since January 1, 1926.

"We are hopeful," said Mr. Budd, in concluding the announcement, "that the establishment of this award of honor will accentuate the need of constant watchfulness, thoughtfulness and preparedness to prevent the waste of human life, as well as to reward those who, by prompt application of training and display of courage, succeed in saving a fellow man."

Elephant Dying Out

The elephant is the last of his kind, the offspring of the mastodon and the mammoth. Africa is the last stronghold of these large animals, but they are in a fair way of extinction like many other species of wild beast and bird. About 20,000 elephants are killed annually for their ivory and they cannot multiply rapidly enough to keep up with the slaughter.

the chain and each year its output augments the piscatorial colony by millions.

Some idea of the development of the Antioch district is had from the fact that not so many years ago the property along the lake fronts was all farm land. This now has been laid out as subdivisions and hundreds of dwellings have been built varying from the cottage of the wage earner to the pretentious home of the wealthy man. Antioch is essentially democratic and that constitutes one of its greatest charms.

It has three golf courses—the Channel Lake Country Club, just west of Antioch, the Chain o' Lakes Country Club, five miles west (an eighteen-hole public-fee course), and in course of construction, the Liberty golf course of eighteen holes, three miles north of Antioch.

Boom in Building.

The greatest single project in Antioch—the greatest of its kind outside of Chicago in the Middle West—is the Antioch Palace and Recreation Auditorium, now building at the south edge of town on route No. 21, the concrete highway which brings one to or from Chicago by automobile in sixty minutes.

It is to cost $100,000 and will be devoted to dancing, bowling and billiards, with a restaurant and lunch room. It is to be housed in a brick building with a floor space of 125x190. It will accommodate altogether 2,500 persons. Six hundred couples can dance at one time. Anticipating the vast volume it will draw, Richard Maack, the owner, plans to have six acres of parking space.

It will be completed next April 23. Mr. Maack will have one of the highest class orchestras and the appointments and decorations will rank with those of any ballroom in Chicago.

The best indication of Antioch's growth is obtained from an article appearing in Homer B. Gaston's excellent paper, the Antioch News. For 1926 nearly three-quarters of a million dollars was spent in building in Antioch and the lake region. It was the greatest year in the history of the locality.

79,200 in Homes.

The article, in part, reads:

"The largest single investment was the new addition and remodeling of the Antioch High School at a cost of $90,000 and the new buildings of the First National Bank and the State Bank of Antioch.

"Thirteen new residences have been erected in Antioch during the year, representing an investment of approximately $60,000. Many remodeling jobs swelled the total for private homes to $79,200."

This Spring, I learned, Antioch will have a resplendent White Way, new ornamental lights having been contracted for along the lengths of its busy Main st., which is the Fox River road. Lake st., another important thoroughfare, is to be paved.

Mr. Ahl gave me the result of a check of motor traffic through Antioch, taken last year before Decoration Day, when the volume of travel had not reached its peak, but was normal. The check made on Route No. 21 at three different points, from 6 o'clock on a Saturday morning until 6 of a Monday morning. Thirty-one thousand six hundred and thirty-seven automobiles were counted during the forty-eight hours.

All Lines Represented.

Which explains why Antioch filling stations do so thriving a business. The city has a Shell station, with a large warehouse, owned by local people; two Standard Oil stations; one Texaco and one Sinclair, with three garages. The Antioch Sales and Service Garage, by the way, is the largest in the county, the building costing $125,000.

Within a radius of 100 miles of Antioch there live more than 8,000,000 people and it is easy to understand why in the Summer Antioch is the center of a population of 50,000. The majority of them come from Chicago, but at the height of the season there are cars with licenses from every state. Antioch has become a national institution. It has a retail section worthy of its position. Every line of business is represented. There is a saying among Summer colonists that you can get it in Antioch if it's to be had, whether it's a halibut or an automobile.

Many Fraternal Bodies.

Antioch has all that a town thrice its size has in cultural, social and religious institutions. It has a Methodist, an Episcopal and a Catholic church and a Christian Science Society.

It has many strong fraternal organizations, including the Masons, Modern Woodmen of America, Eastern Star, Danish Society, a parent-teacher association, a woman's club, the president of which is Mrs. O. E. Bachmeister; patriotic societies and Antioch Post No. 748 of the American Legion.

It has two fine motion picture theaters.

Besides Mr. Ahl, the officers of its Business Club are W. R. Williams, vice president; George B. Bartlett, treasurer, and L. O. Bright, secretary.

"Antioch," proclaims the Business Club, "offers you every attraction that can be secured to make your vacation a real pleasure."

It does—and then some.

W. C. AVERY NEARS 80TH BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY

W. C. Avery, better known as "Dad," will soon be eighty years old as his birthday comes on Jan. 17, on which a large circle of friends, children and grandchildren will wish him the best of luck.

Mr. Avery came to Barron county from Buffalo county a number of years ago and purchased what was then known as the Lofgren farm about five miles north of Chetek. He worked and managed this place until last year when his son, Herman took charge. Mr. Avery, apparently in good health, gets around as spry as anyone. We all hope he will always be as well as he is now for many years to come.

SNOW THREATENS

"TALLEST BUILDING" TITLE HELD BRIEFLY

Superior Height No Longer a Distinction.

New York.—With the skyscrapers of each year being lost in the shadows of the taller ones erected in the next, the designer who wishes to plan a distinctive building no longer can rely upon superior height alone.

Most of the cities of the United States are seeing their "tallest buildings" eclipsed, one after the other, as the result of a construction trend which has been gaining momentum for several years.

In the past, especially in the early part of the century, the erection of a building taller than any of its neighbors, or taller than any in the same town, was a guaranty that it would stand out prominently for a considerable time.

"World's Tallest" Record.

In New York city several buildings successively acquiring the title of "tallest" held it long enough to gain national reputation. The American Surety building, one of the first downtown skyscrapers, was followed by the Flatiron building, and then by the Singer building. The title of "world's tallest" was then captured by the Woolworth, which held it unchallenged until the planning of the 81-story new Hook tower in Detroit.

Most of the cities of America today are witnessing similar processes of "overtopping." In Cleveland the new Union Terminal tower will rise 711 feet, considerably higher than the previous tallest building, except the Woolworth building.

The peak of the Brooklyn skyline was for years at 23 stories, the height of the Chamber of Commerce building. Suddenly it went to 28 stories with the Court House building, and scarcely was this completed when work was begun on a new 30-story structure, and another, which is to go to 35 stories, all within a few blocks of one another. In nearly every section of New York city buildings which previously stood out as isolated skyscrapers are today surrounded by taller ones, like groves of trees.

Try for Distinction.

When this overtopping occurs a structure can still hold its rank as one of the "leading buildings" through distinctive features other than height. Architects now plan to insure permanent prestige for the buildings they design by modern floor plans and lighting effects, exteriors made attractive by skillful use of terra cotta and other decorative materials, efficient elevator facilities and generally convenient equipment throughout.

Care is also being taken to avoid the buildings' ever assuming an appearance of "oldness" by the use in many cases of facing materials which can be washed with soap and water.

Hard to Believe

Doctor Price, an eighteenth-century statistician, computed that if the equivalent of one cent had been invested at compound interest at the time of Christ's birth it would in 1768 have amounted to 75,000,000 globes of solid gold, each the size of the earth.

ARE YOU GUILTY?

A FARMER carrying an express package from a big mail-order house was accosted by a local dealer.

"Why didn't you buy that bill of goods from me? I could have saved you the express, and besides you would have been patronizing a home store, which helps pay the taxes and builds up this locality."

The farmer looked at the merchant a moment and then said:

"Why don't you patronize your home paper and advertise? I read it and didn't know that you had the stuff I have here."
